Whether managing established foreign operations or venturing overseas for the first time, multinational organizations are vulnerable to a variety of risks and situations requiring special care. Following are several examples of claims a multinational company could face:

A U.S. Student Crisis in Israel
During a flare up of violence between Gaza and Israel during the summer of 2014, the insured, which organizes student trips to Israel, was forced to evacuate, transport, and secure alternative lodging for 400 students. AIG reimbursed the insured for transportation of the entire group away from the battle zone to a more secure area, and arranged lodging accommodations for 24 days. No students were harmed and all returned home safely. AIG paid a full limit total of $250K in CrisisResponse® costs.

Volunteer Hospitalized in Guatemala
An insured’s volunteer fell ill while on a mission in Guatemala. AIG Travel obtained immediate medical treatment for the volunteer at a local hospital, facilitated communication in local language with the attending physician to ensure a proper medical history was provided, and arranged local payment for the hospital. The volunteer was able to recuperate with good medical care and knowledge that the medical expenses were covered by the insured’s Travel Accident and Sickness policy.

Fire in Australian Facility
A U.S.-based flooring material company suffered a fire at an administrative and distribution facility in Australia. The fire rendered the structure unusable and resulted in total loss of the building contents, including inventory, equipment, and furniture, as well as business interruption loss. The property coverage part of the insured’s WorldRisk policy paid $804K to temporarily relocate the client’s operations and to restore the original building and contents.

Employee Injury in Remote Location
An insured with operations worldwide had an employee working on a small stove at a location in the Caribbean. The stove exploded, causing second and third degree burns to the employee’s arms and face. Given their remote island location, AIG Travel coordinated airlift transportation for the employee to a hospital in Miami for immediate and ongoing treatment, with coverage under its Foreign Voluntary Compensation policy.

For more information, contact your local WorldRisk underwriter or broker.

---

American International Group, Inc. (AIG) is a leading global insurance organization. Building on 100 years of experience, today AIG member companies provide a wide range of property casualty insurance, life insurance, retirement products, and other financial services to customers in more than 80 countries and jurisdictions. These diverse offerings include products and services that help businesses and individuals protect their assets, manage risks and provide for retirement security. AIG common stock is listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Additional information about AIG can be found at www.aig.com | YouTube: www.youtube.com/aig | Twitter: @AIGinsurance www.twitter.com/AIGinsurance | LinkedIn: www.linkedin.com/company/aig. These references with additional information about AIG have been provided as a convenience, and the information contained on such websites is not incorporated by reference into this material. AIG is the marketing name for the worldwide property-casualty, life and retirement, and general insurance operations of American International Group, Inc. For additional information, please visit our website at www.aig.com. All products and services are written or provided by subsidiaries or affiliates of American International Group, Inc. Products or services may not be available in all countries, and coverage is subject to actual policy language. Non-insurance products and services may be provided by independent third parties. Certain property-casualty coverages may be provided by a surplus lines insurer. Surplus lines insurers do not generally participate in state guaranty funds, and insureds are therefore not protected by such funds.