

US$ 1 Billion Aerospace Liability Protection

AIG Aerospace can now offer up to US$1 billion in liability limits for airports, service providers and non-critical aviation product manufacturers.

“AIG Aerospace are proud to announce another market first.

The introduction of a US$ 1 billion limit of liability provides our clients with the protection of a single insurer for catastrophic losses. As an alternative to consortiums, our clients can now look solely to AIG for the capacity they need to guard against large losses, and benefit from the certainty our expert claims teams provide.

With 70 years of Aerospace experience, we remain dedicated to providing our clients with flexible solutions that match their emerging exposures.”

Benefits

- Airports and service providers often face significant liability exposures that require large loss limits.
- A single primary AIG policy provides clients with the capacity to match their increasing exposures, up to US$ 1 billion.
- Avoids the claims uncertainty associated with purchasing a large limit policy from a consortium of providers.
- Our expert claims teams can react quickly and manage every aspect of a claim; from overseeing accident investigations, to rigorously defending liability lawsuits.
- AIG has one of the largest and most diverse appetites for aerospace risk in the market.

The US$ 1 billion liability limit is applicable to:

Airports

- International airports
- Domestic/regional airports

Service providers

- Ground service providers:
 - Ground handlers
 - Refuellers
 - Security providers
 - Aircraft caterers

Component product manufacturers
